Sister Stan Terese Mario Mumuni
Superior General
Marian Sisters for Eucharistic Love

Sister Stan Terese Mario Mumuni, a native of Bawku, Ghana, took her vows as a Sister in July 1997. She spent the first 15 years of her missionary work in Nigeria but followed God’s call to return to a conflict zone in northern Ghana to help children born with birth defects, who were being killed and accused of witchcraft. In 2009, with the local Bishop’s blessing but no funding, she opened an orphanage to rescue the innocent victims who were rejected by their families and communities. She later founded the congregation Marian Sister of Eucharistic Love (MASEL), dedicated to changing hearts and saving souls. To date, Sr Stan’s mission has saved the lives of more than 100 children.
Sister Alicia Vacas, a native of Spain, currently serves as the Regional Leader for the Comboni Sisters in the Middle East, (including the communities of the Comboni Sisters in Turkey, Jordan, Israel/Palestine, the Gulf, and Sri Lanka). She lives in Jerusalem, Israel. The Comboni Sisters are present in 35 countries and have been providing frontline healthcare assistance during the COVID-19 pandemic. Sr. Alicia was called to serve as a nurse during the peak of the crisis in Bergamo, Italy, where 10 of the 55 sisters in her community house perished. After working on the frontlines in northern Italy, Sr. Alicia recently returned to Israel. Her convent, situated near the separation wall between Israel and the Palestinian territories, was founded in 1966 and serves as both a spiritual retreat center and the St. Mary's Kindergarten. This community serves the Bedouin population in the desert of Juda (West Bank) and works with asylum seekers and human trafficking victims in Israel.

Sister Imelda Poole MBE, a native of Great Britain, is a sister of the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary (IBVM). After many years in the field of Education and grassroots mission in the UK, her ministry moved to Albania where the Archbishop of Tirana invited the Congregation to work in the mission against Human Trafficking. This led to her co-founding an NGO called Mary Ward Loreto (MWL) which addresses the root causes of trafficking, including poverty and is involved in the rescue and rehabilitation of victims of trafficking. Sister Imelda currently serves as the President of Religious in Europe Networking Against Trafficking and Exploitation (RENATE). RENATE has grown from a handful of sisters into a leading NGO combatting human trafficking in 31 European countries. It regularly convenes in different European nations to support work across borders in partnership with the many members of RENATE.
